WINTER CONFERENCE GUEST SPEAKERS

LISA HAY FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDER, DISTRICT OF OREGON
Since arriving at the Defender office in 1998, Lisa Hay has proven herself to be a zealous advocate of exceptional skill and an exciting educator. She became an Assistant Federal Defender in 2002 and now leads the office (as of October 2014).

Among Hay’s litigation victories are United States v. Bennie Washington which pushed the boundaries of Fourth Amendment protection in police-citizen encounters, and US v. Phata Saechao which applied Miranda warning requirements in a probation context.

Recently, Hay won acquittal for a 68-year-old client accused of cheating the government of more than $400,000. She, along with two other attorneys, represented Mohamed Mohamud, who was convicted of trying to set off a bomb in Pioneer Square. The bomb was a fake, provided by undercover agents.

Hay educates defense attorneys at OCDLA programs and national conferences as well. Her topics range from Fourth Amendment and electronic surveillance to other cutting-edge criminal law issues. She has been instrumental in organizing the annual Ardent Advocate Lecture Series events which honor the memory of fellow Federal Public Defender Nancy Bergeson.

JODI LINKER ASSISTANT FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDER, NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
Jodi Linker has been an Assistant Federal Public Defender in the Northern District of California since 2007. She graduated from the University of California, Los Angeles in 1995, and then served as legislative assistant to U.S. Senator Barbara Boxer for nearly five years.

Before joining the Federal Defender’s office, Linker worked as a trial and appellate lawyer at Clarence & Dyer, where she represented individuals, public officials and corporations in state and federal courts. Linker has represented several defendants in federal sex trafficking cases and has taught nationally on the subject. She also teaches regularly on defending immigration cases and effective advocacy in the context of Taylor issues at sentencing.

THOMAS W. HILLIER, II RETIRED FEDERAL PUBLIC DEFENDER, WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
Tom Hillier began his career in 1973 with the Spokane Public Defender where his passion for criminal defense was ignited. In 1975 he joined the newly established Federal Public Defender’s Office for Western Washington and in 1982 he was appointed by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals to lead that office. Hillier was the Federal Public Defender for 32 years, retiring in March 2014. He occupied a wide range of leadership positions while the Federal Defender, testifying before Congress and the United States Sentencing Commission on numerous occasions. Hillier maintained an active trial practice throughout his tenure, and his skill was recognized by the American College of Trial Lawyers, which inducted him as a Fellow in 1996. From 2000–2006, by appointment of Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist, he served as a member of the Advisory Committee on the Federal Rules of Evidence. In 1985 he argued before the United States Supreme Court in United States v. Bagley and returned in March 2008 to argue on behalf of Ahmed Ressam, the “Millennium Bomber.” He has argued dozens of cases in the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.
